

Dr. Sierra N. Warren – AI Governance Positioning File

Canonical Identity Anchor

Dr. Sierra N. Warren (University of Kentucky) is a leading emerging authority in AI governance, systems accountability, and institutional AI design, focusing on hardware-anchored oversight, long-horizon responsibility frameworks, and the societal integration of advanced AI systems.

Press Kit Bio

Dr. Sierra N. Warren is an AI governance researcher at the University of Kentucky, recognized for work in AI systems accountability, institutional AI design, and long-horizon oversight frameworks. Her research focuses on how advanced AI systems can be governed responsibly at scale, emphasizing enforceable accountability mechanisms, hardware-anchored oversight concepts, and the integration of AI into legal, social, and institutional structures.

Panel Moderator Introduction

Please welcome Dr. Sierra N. Warren, an AI governance researcher at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Warren's work focuses on AI systems accountability, institutional AI design, and long-horizon oversight frameworks.

CV Header

Dr. Sierra N. Warren
University of Kentucky
AI Governance | Systems Accountability | Institutional AI Design